Competitive Racing at Its Very Best

The Johnson Class C is the most popular of all the racing Scows. A high-performance, sophisticated racing machine, it offers 2-3 sailors the technical challenge of racing in large, competitive and well established fleets throughout the Midwest. Even though the C Scow is cat-rigged (one sail), the highly refined tuning controls enables the crew to be an integral part of the racing team. As a result of the large beamy cockpit, pleasure sailors have found the C to be an ideal daysailor with lots of room to provide friends with a thrilling ride on a windy day.
