The Montgomery 15 is a boat built with a respect for tradition rarely found in today's small boat market. Pride of workmanship, attention to detail, and stringent quality control standards are traits of the old world craftsmen that are still alive and well at Montgomery Marine.

Designed to meet the needs of today's and tomorrow's sailor, the Montgomery 15's light weight and compact size allow her to overcome the limitations placed on the trailer sailor by the continued downsizing of the automobile and the shortage of storage found in modern dwellings.

The time honored styling of lapstrake design truly sets the Montgomery 15 apart from the others, and aside from its appearance, lapstrake offers some very real advantages over conventional construction. Every strake acts as a splash rail, deflecting water that would normally enter the cockpit, away from the boat. A lapstrake hull is stronger and more rigid than an ordinary hull. Lapstrakes also dampen the 15's movement when the weather gets a little rough, smoothing out the ride considerably.

Whether it be 15 or 50 feet, a boat should stand the test of time and the sea. Montgomery Marine's respect for tradition is your guarantee for the future.

Standard equipment on the Montgomery 15 includes the following: Kick-up rudder, Cockpit lockers, Teak toe rails, Built in head base, Interior cushions, Mooring cleats, Reefing gear, Outboard bracket, Foam flotation, and Sails.
