Producer Of Small Boats Expands Fleet With Gurney-Designed Sloop

O'Day, the producer of more than 35,000 under 23-ft. boats since 1958, has taken a tack toward larger craft with the introduction of a 27-ft. fiber-glass model.

The 27 was designed by Alan Gurney, best known for such speedsters as Windward Passage, Crusade, Nepenthe, Hotfoot, Guinevere and Kittiwake.

Carrying 340 sq.ft. of sail, the new O'Day boat has 27' LOA, 22'9" LWL, a beam of 9' and draws 4'. Power options include inboard or outboard engines.

Below decks, there's full headroom in the entire cabin, six full berths, enclosed head, large galley, dining area and plenty of stowage.
