

MANUFACTURER'S COMMENT

The Pearson 28 is our third generation of boats this size and represents the very best thinking in design, engineering, and owner preferences. A quick glance at her 24'4½" waterline length and 9'10" beam dimensions indicates just how spacious she is. Truly, an extremely accommodating 28-footer. The challenge was to use this space to maximum advantage, and this is where the Pearson Yachts design group has carved out new territory. For example, there are two real double berths—one forward and another enclosed stateroom aft to port—that provide desirable privacy, while the enclosed head is located farther aft than we have seen recently, using a wider part of the boat to its best advantage.

The galley is located amidships with stove, sink, and stowage to port, and with a large icebox covered by an equally large chart table/counter to starboard. For a smaller boat, this is a superior arrangement as it maximizes galley workspace and icebox volume.

The 28's sailing qualities are superb. Of particular note is her ability to stand up to a breeze due mainly to the form stability produced by her wide beam at the waterline. We set out to design a performance cruiser/racer, and from all appearances, we succeeded. We offer the 28 in a shoal-draft version that draws only 3'6".

To summarize, the 28 is what you've come to expect from Pearson. She is uniquely different and, in our opinion, just right for the requirements of today's sailors—namely, quality, excellent sailing characteristics, seakindly motion, spaciousness, and privacy.
