FIBERGLASS SLOOP

Beautiful yacht finish
Elegant appointments
High performance racing design
by Gary Mull

The Ranger 33 is the newest yacht from the drawing board of Gary Mull, our talented young naval architect. Gary first worked on the America's Cup defender Constellation, and has since won renown for his swift designs in fiberglass from 22 to 40 feet. And Ranger 33 reflects his latest concept of a high performance, elegantly appointed yacht.

Topside Ranger 33 includes many details not found on ordinary sailboats: a beautiful teak cap rail; an optional dodger molding on the main hatch cover; racing winches and anodized hardware as standard; boot top and contrasting non-skid finish.

Below decks Ranger 33 has the accommodations of a 40-footer: full standing headroom throughout; six full-length berths; a convertible dinette that seats 8; large aft galley with sink and stove well; full-size navigator's table with chart storage; a large, enclosed walk-in head; hanging locker; private forward stateroom with bureau.

The Ranger 33 includes many yacht appointments as standard, such as a color coordinated interior with carpeting and decorator cushions. She's exquisitely finished in walnut paneling and contrasting soft-textured vinyls.

Ranger 33 is powered by a 30 h.p. Atomic 4 with 21 gallon fuel and 21 gallon water tanks.

She's carefully constructed of hand-laid-up fiberglass and painstakingly finished to yacht standards. Aluminum spars, stainless and dacron rigging.

For the man who really enjoys owning a yacht and wants to win races, Ranger 33 is the only choice.

Ranger 33 is the second of a complete line of sailing yachts, all designed by Gary Mull under exclusive contract to Ranger Yachts, a division of Bangor Punta Corp. Bangor Punta is the nation's second largest boat manufacturer.
