

STARWIND 190

MANUFACTURER'S COMMENT

The popularity of sailing as a relaxing and healthy form of family recreation has grown enormously over the past decade. Existing "trailer-sailers" have a notorious and often deserved reputation for poor design, construction and performance, however, and it is perhaps just as well that the current "downsizing" of the American automobile has rendered them obsolete. The times demand a complete re-thinking of the breed!

The Starwind 190 is designed to meet precisely these new market realities. She is light enough to be trailed by today's compact cars, her lively performance will satisfy the most demanding sailors, her crisp, contemporary styling will silence the "trailer-sailer snicker," and her low cost and high quality combine to make her a lasting asset. But most of all, daysailing with friends or weekending with the kids, she is designed to be pure and simple fun!

The conventional trailer-sailer, heavy in the trailer and sluggish in the water, is no longer viable, but the need for a small, lively trailerable weekender is stronger than ever. The Starwind 190 is a 1980's response to this need.

L.O.A.....	18' 7"	Sail Area....	153 sq. ft.
L.W.L.....	15' 7"	Hull Weight:
Beam.....	7' 6"		1,350 lbs.
Draft:		Price:.....	$7,695.00
Board Up.....	1' 6"		With Sails
Board Down....	4' 6"

REBEL INDUSTRIES

1220 Tallevast Road

Tallevast, Florida 34270

(813) 355-8455

For More Information Circle No. 193